Reason To Celebrate 'Heart Month'

Dorothy Paulette and her brother Calvin of Phenix have good reason to remember that February is "Heart Month." For both of them, the condition of their hearts is a matter of careful attention, regular check-ups and for Dorothy, major surgery.

Just five years ago, Dec. 14, 1964, Dorothy underwent open heart surgery at the Medical College of Virginia, to close a hole about 3/4 inch in diameter in her heart.

In November of the year just past, both she and her brother underwent cardiac catheterization, a diagnostic procedure in which a slim wire is run through the veins to the heart, with special monitoring screens to check the condition of the heart. Calvin, 17, and a senior at Randolph - Henry School, Charlotte Court House, watched the progress of the catheterization on what he calls a heart "TV screen." He has a heart "murmur" and because of it, he will probably receive financial help from the Va. Dept. Vocational Rehabilitation next year as he enters Danville Community College.

For Dorothy, a fifth grader, there are plenty of things to do at school and at home. Sundays and other times, there are visits to see her grandmother, Mrs. W. C. Garrett, of Evergreen.

Parents of Dorothy, Calvin and another daughter, Mrs. Linda Cheatham, are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Paulette. Mr. Paulette is a farmer. Mrs. Paulette is employed at the Carver Mfg. Co., Appomattox.

The Pauletes give credit to many organizations and people for the surgery that saved Dorothy's life.

Twenty pints of blood were used in the open - heart surgery. They realize too, that Heart Fund dollars, used for research teaching grants, and for equipping rescue squads, help many heart patients. In addition, the Virginia System of Crippled Children's Clinics finance treatment and examinations for patients like Dorothy who require regular surveillance.

Mrs. Paulette said that she knows her fellow workers at Carver Mfg. Co. are always willing to give to a good cause. And where hearts are concerned, the Pauletes know the value of a healthy heart and the gratitude they feel for the change from a little girl with a big hole in her heart and a "scary" kind of "whooshing - thumping noise" in her chest, to the active, happy fifth grader at their home, now.

Dorothy and Calvin Paulette of Phenix, on a visit to their grandmother's home, Mrs. W. C. Garrett of Evergreen, took occasion to talk about "Heart Month" with which they are very much involved. Dorothy has had open heart surgery and Calvin, extensive testing for heart defects. Both are now in good health, and both say "thanks" to everyone who contributes to the various organizations, including the Piedmont Heart Fund, which sponsors teaching fellowships, research and equipment to help heart patients.

Smile Power!

Here's a boy with "Smile Power", Ben Harvey has no cavities -- and no fillings, either. His latest dental checkup was in December, and he urges all other boys and girls to put "Smile Power" to work by brushing teeth several times a day, checking with their dentist and eating proper foods for good dental health. This is National Children's Dental Health Week, and Appomattox County school nurse, Mrs. Margaret Shields, distributed these colorful posters to county schools. Ben is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harvey of Appomattox. Now nine year old, he was one of the 8 year old football champions of the county.

All Children Grades 1-4 Urged To Sign-Up For Measles Clinic

All parents of children grades one through four are urged to have their children vaccinated during the Wed. Feb. 11 Measles Clinic to be held at Appomattox Primary School (Ferguson Ave.).

Those parents who can afford to, are being asked to make a contribution to help defray costs of the vaccination, but those parents who feel they cannot contribute should STILL send their approval to have the children vaccinated, says Mrs. Margaret Shields, the school nurse.

The vaccine immunizes the child so that he can't catch, carry or spread Rubella. Vaccinated boys and girls can't infect other people, including pregnant women. When a pregnant woman catches Rubella ("German measles"), the result to the unborn child is nearly always tragic, say medical experts. Retardation, blindness and heart defects occur in such children.

The way to eliminate the threat of Rubella to unborn babies is to vaccinate the group of children most likely to contract the disease, children in grades 1 - 4.

Educational programs warning against dangers of Rubella and other birth - defect causes are part of the work of the March of Dimes National Foundation.

Records Set By Pipeline

Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation, supplier of natural gas to eastern markets from Mississippi to New York City, today reported new records for 1969. It was the seventeenth consecutive year the Company has shown increased earnings.

The figures released indicated that net income from operations (excluding investment tax credit) increased to a new high of $39,413,849 from $35,637,965 reported for 1968. Earnings per share of common stock attributable to operations were $1.51 in 1969 compared with $1.34 in 1968, an increase of 13%. Total earnings per share of common stock were $1.70 for 1969 compared with $1.68 for the previous year including investment tax credits of 19¢ for 1969 and 34¢ for 1968.

James B. Henderson, President, said that under new legislation enacted late in 1969 the investment tax credit had been eliminated with respect to construction expenditures except those incurred or committed for prior to April 19, 1969. He emphasized, however, that because of such exceptions in the new law, the Company expected that the 1970 investment tax

Quick Action Protects Tanks

Firemen were called to Appomattox Hardware Co. Friday evening about 8 p.m. when a windowsill caught on fire.

Firemen hosed down the window area to keep it from spreading to the storage area of the store and from gasoline storage tanks nearby. They also set up smoke ejectors and pulled smoke from inside the building.

Jack Caldwell discovered the fire, turned in the alarm, and then fought the blaze himself until the fire company arrived.

Public Invited To Support Industrial Planning Corporation

Meeting Set Monday- 7:30

A long talked-about proposal -- to form an industrial corporation to attract industry -- is taking shape in Appomattox County. First public meeting is scheduled for Mon., Feb. 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Court House according to F. L. Eggleston, speaking for a planning committee, H. G. Lawson, Charles Thomas Moses, and Taylor Matthews.

The committee is contacting business and professional people, seeking pledges in order to buy land or secure options on land as an offering to potential industrialists.

The planning meeting follows on the heels of a meeting of county supervisors, landowners and businessmen with officials of Norfolk and Western and Virginia Electric Power Co., Jan. 9.

According to Eggleston, a group of businessmen has already been contacted and urged to be present at the meeting. There are probably many other individuals, he says, who are interested in expansion and growth of the county who will want to attend and get in on the ground floor of the proposed corporation.

At the luncheon meeting, C. E. Hunter, Manager, Industrial Development, Norfolk and Western, said that Appomattox has many things to recommend it to potential developers, including access to railroads, highways and natural gas lines.

He suggested that the community have land available together with utilities, water, sewage facilities, so that prospects can be shown land that's "ready to go."

Eggleston is executive vice-president, Fidelity National Bank of Appomattox. H. G. Lawson is Appomattox county's Commonwealth's Attorney. Taylor Matthews is a contractor and developer. Charles Thomas Moses heads Moses Motor Company.

Ralph King of Appomattox (right) receives a bronze citation from G. L. James, extension agent, agriculture (left) because of King's Market support of the annual Piedmont Junior Show and Sale. For the past three years King's has underwritten costs of the nine-county exhibit and sale. Appomatox 4- H members have won cash awards and sold their prize hogs for good prices during the sale.

King Given 4-H Award

Ralph King, owner of the King's chain of supermarkets, has for the past three years underwritten a project involving Appomattox county youth and those of nine other counties, the Piedmont Junior Market Hog Show and Sale held each August at the Lynchburg Livestock Market.

Because of this he was this week presented a bronze plaque by the VPI Extension Service for outstanding service to 4-H youth.

The exhibit and sale of hogs is an outgrowth of the Market Hog Show and Sale which marked its 15th year of continuous operation in August, 1969. More than $25,000 has been realized from the sale of animals grown by 4-H members and FFA members in the East and West Central District.

The show continues to increase in monetary value and participation, says extension agent G. L. James. As an instance, he says that 70 hogs were entered and sold in the 19-68 show, weighing 13,685 pounds for a total selling price of $8,957.01. Average weight of 209 pounds with prize money totaling $331.00.

Wayland Ferguson, Dave Walker and James Watkins, Jr. took hogs to the 1969 show. James took home $30.00 in prize money and $717.52 for the sale of 12 hogs. Dave Walker sold eight hogs for $668.06 and Wayland Ferguson took home $2.00 in prize money and $53.19 for the sale of his hog.
